

Week 8: Action Week

Handout #1: Week 8 Next Steps

Week 8 is all about how you can continue to implement the shifts you've made in this program. Because those shifts have the power to change your entire financial future. . . which, in turn, changes the future of your entire life.

During this final Action Week, I created a special pdf handout for you to use to support your Next Steps. It's all about taking action on what you've learned, and not stopping until the program (and your goal) is completed. Plus we created a final challenge so you can enjoy the reward of successful program completion.

PART 1: Next steps on your financial goals

Review your MMJ 8-week goals set in Weeks 1-3. For each of them, identify what next steps you are going to do to complete and/or keep up your momentum in each of those areas.

Use your Financial to-do list from Week 2 and the 10 suggested financial habits in the MMJ Week 5 Handout #1 Habits Challenge as helpful reminders of what is important for you personally to gain traction on and continue to move forward.

Note your intended next steps for each major goal/are here:
